

Hoi An, from the beach

THE TRAVELLER'S GUIDE · MONEA LE BELHAMY

Twelve minutes from a UNESCO old town, with a coconut grove between your villa and the sea.

THE OLD TOWN

UNESCO listed it in 1999 and it is still a town that works rather than a museum: tailors who cut to measure and finish in a day, workshops, a market, and a river that changes completely once the light drops. Twelve minutes from the villa.

Late afternoon, when the light drops and the lanterns go on. If your dates fall on a full moon, the whole town is lit by lanterns that night.

HOW FAR EVERYTHING IS

Hoi An Old Town · 12 min	About 8 km inland, and the reason this stretch of coast is worth the booking. UNESCO World Heritage since 1999.
Marble Mountains · 15 min	Five limestone hills on the road to Da Nang, with pagodas cut into the caves inside them and the whole coast visible from the top.
Da Nang airport · 25 min	About 20 km up the coast road. It is where everyone lands, and it is better connected than most people expect of a city this size.
Da Nang · 30 min	The city itself, about 25 km away: a long beach, the river and the bridges over it, and dinner that is not in a hotel.
My Son Sanctuary · 55 min	The brick towers the Cham kingdom raised in a valley inland. It is the second UNESCO site within an hour of the hotel.
Ba Na Hills · 60 min	Up in the mountains behind Da Nang, reached by cable car. Count on a full day, and on it being cooler up there.

WHEN TO COME

The hotel is open all year. Central Vietnam has a dry season and a wet one, and the difference matters more here than on the beaches further south. Tell us your dates before you book and we will tell you honestly what the coast is like that week.
